Spud By John Van De

Spud is a 2005 novel by South African author, actor, playwright and producer, John van de Ruit. A comedic sometimes sad yet straight forward novel that captures the humor of life in boarding school, through the diary of John 'Spud' Milton. The book is written in the style of a diary. The story begins on the morning of Spud's first day at a private boarding school, following his year and experiences with the often eccentric characters found in the school environment. The diary also follows Spud's

And Spud Milton—thirteen-year-old, prepubescent choirboy extraordinaire—is about to start his first year at an elite boys-only boarding school in South Africa. Cursed with embarrassingly dysfunctional parents, a senile granny named Wombat, and a wild obsession for Julia Roberts, Spud has his hands full trying to adapt to his new home.

Summary and reviews of Spud by John van de Ruit

I really enjoyed this film (although the sequel barely lives up to it), narrated by spud (named after his exposure in the shower) Milton, this amusing and touching film is based upon the book by John van de Ruit. Spuds parents are hilarious and his outlook refreshing. The extras on the disc are well worth watching.
